This for "LakerCapt" and "Garbear" (should be called gargamel, lol).

Having come across that thread again and remembering that and how it wasn't properly resolved...

In that thread I mentioned "Piney" which was a cutesy name for the Pineglen(RIP). You "LakerCapt" decided to snarl at me and demanded that I don't call her "Piney" and how that would offend the people who worked on the ship. Then your buddy "Garbear" came along and seconded that with an equally rude response.

There are few things I hate more in this world than people who act like you just did there. It's extremely rude and there was no need of that whatsoever. Even worse is that the moderators on that forum, blocked me from saying anything against that or defending myself against your vicious attack. They should have deleted your posts, because you were the ones stirring things up. This is why I am posting it here, where it can't be blocked by your corrupt buddies.

Furthermore, I don't have to listen to either of you. You don't have any authority over anyone (especially on the internet), except your crew and when on a ship – which I get the feeling you don't have either of those anymore. I don't care if you're a "captain" or whatever, it means nothing to me. It's like showing up at the bank with monopoly money and expecting to be taken seriously.

I'll leave you with this: Mike Tyson once said something about social media and it very much applies to both of you. I won't quote it here, but I'll think you'll find it in order. Maybe you've already been introduced to that concept by people in your past...

Also, special mention: I appreciate the fact that Denny came to my defense. Thanks Denny, you're one of the nicest people in the community.

And that's all I'm gonna say about this.
